

Small Business Networking Breakfasts

Feed Your Entrepreneurial Mind And Your Stomach

A great way to start your day!

Introducing a series of free monthly networking breakfasts for small businesses within the local community. These seminars will be held on the third Wednesday of every month, and are a great opportunity for networking between business owners and executives. Each month, a different speaker will share valuable insights and information on how to become a successful entrepreneur.

When: September 17, 2008

Where: USF St. Petersburg College of Business
263 13th Avenue South, St. Petersburg, Third floor, Room 345

Time: 8:00 AM - 9:15 AM

Title: Startup Survival – Making it through 0 -12 months

Entrepreneurial Speaker:

A self proclaimed, “tech community activist and disrupter of the status quo,” Ken Evans is a business strategist, problem solver and get-to-market specialist helping early stage companies define, organize and deliver. He has 25+ years of proven leadership for turning innovative technology ideas and early stage start-ups into growing product-focused companies. Ken has developed a program that helps early stage companies focus their thoughts, their efforts and their funds. Not only will you learn new tricks of the trade, but you will truly enjoy listening to this energetic and profound speaker; sign up today!

Reservations are required:

Seating is limited to 45 professionals. To make a reservation please email your name, company name, telephone number and number of attendees to:

sbdc@stpt.usf.edu

Hosted By:

Sponsored By:

